Before you go

Book your bed at least two weeks ahead in July and August.
Bring a sleeping-bag liner: blankets are provided, sheets are not.
Most huts take cash only. Check the opening dates: high huts close in September.
Tell the warden if you will arrive after 18:00, or if you change your plans.

At the hut

Leave boots, poles and ice axes in the boot room by the entrance.
Dinner is served at 18:30, breakfast from 4:30 for early starts.
Quiet hours run from 22:00 to 5:00. Lights out in the dormitories.
Water may not be drinkable: ask the warden before filling your bottle.

Safety

Check the weather forecast at the hut in the evening, and again at dawn.
Write your route and expected return time in the hut book.
Emergency number in the Alps: 112. Helicopter rescue sign: both arms raised.
